September 30, 2019

Forbis announces retirement; Bilke to be appointed CTO and Adelson to assume new COO role

MONETT, Mo., Sept. 30, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- Jack Henry & Associates, Inc.[®] (NASDAQ: JKHY), a leading provider of technology solutions and payment processing services primarily for the financial services industry, announced today that its Executive Vice President and Chief Technology Officer, Mark Forbis, will retire on November 15, 2019. Effective with Forbis' retirement, the company will appoint Ted Bilke as its CTO and elevate Greg Adelson to a new Chief Operating Officer position on its executive team.

David Foss, president and CEO of Jack Henry & Associates, commented, "Mark's commitment to our company's progress has been palpable at Jack Henry for decades. While I'm excited for this new chapter of his life, his dedication and expertise will be missed. We are grateful to Mark for his significant contributions to our company and our industry; he leaves behind strong teams that have well positioned Jack Henry for continued success."

Forbis began his career in 1982 with Systematics (now Fidelity Information Systems) in its data center in Fayetteville, Arkansas while attending the University of Arkansas. He moved to Monett, Missouri in 1988 to join JHA's CIF 36 Support Department, and in the years that followed he served in diverse roles within the organization. He was instrumental in researching, developing, and enhancing the SilverLake System[®] core platform, served as an Installation Manager, and managed the Image and Item Processing division where he was responsible for development, installation, and support of the company's check and document image products. In 2003, he was named General Manager of Technology Services, where he focused on the technology direction of the company's core banking and credit union platforms and numerous complementary products. Forbis was named Vice President and Chief Technology Officer in 2006 and was elevated to Executive Vice President in July 2018.

Ted Bilke, Vice President of Jack Henry & Associates and President of Symitar[®], will serve as the company's CTO upon Forbis' retirement. Bilke joined the Symitar team as Director of Operations in October 2005 and was promoted to General Manager of Episys[®] Operations and Development in October 2008. In July 2010, he was named President of Symitar and in July 2018 he was named a corporate Vice President. Bilke will assume the CTO role in addition to his current responsibilities.

The company is also announcing an entirely new role on its executive team – Chief Operating Officer. Greg Adelson, Vice President of Jack Henry & Associates and General Manager of JHA Payment Solutions[™], is being elevated to this new position effective November 15. Adelson joined JHA in July 2011 as group president of iPay and served in that role until July 2014 when he was promoted to General Manager. He was named a corporate Vice President in July 2018. Adelson will be responsible for all business operations at the company.

Foss added, "I'd like to congratulate both Ted and Greg on their new responsibilities. While we will miss Mark, we're fortunate to benefit from Ted's leadership and expertise as our new CTO. Additionally, we're confident that the wealth of experience Greg brings to our new Chief Operating Officer role will strengthen our ability to provide an operating model that continues to fuel growth and success for Jack Henry."
