

BankPlus Partners with Jack Henry to Improve Efficiencies and Employee Experience

February 9, 2021

$4.5 billion asset bank to launch Jack Henry core to support growth with open technology

MONETT, Mo., Feb. 9, 2021 /PRNewswire/ -- Jack Henry & Associates, Inc. (NASDAQ: JKHY) is a leading provider of technology solutions and payment processing services primarily for the financial services industry. Its Jack Henry Banking® division announced today that BankPlus selected its SilverLake System® core, resulting in increased efficiencies and positioning the bank for continued growth.

BankPlus has been serving the communities of Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana for more than 100 years. The $4.5 billion asset bank was with its previous core provider for almost three decades and recently chose Jack Henry as the best partner to meet its evolving technology needs. Kelly Kiker, senior vice president and director of operations, commented, "Jack Henry's technology priorities and culture align closely with ours. The company is focused exclusively on community and regional financial institutions and has the modern technology and scalability to support our strategic growth."

Employee's user experience was an important factor for BankPlus; it is one of only eight banks that has made the Best Banks to Work For list from American Banker each year since the list was introduced in 2013. With Jack Henry, BankPlus can now easily customize both employee user experiences and workflows, making the workplace a more streamlined, efficient, and modern environment. The bank is also using this opportunity to increase automation with technologies such as teller capture and added imaging services.

Jack Henry's open ecosystem was another notable benefit for BankPlus. Jack Henry has hundreds of fintech partners and encourages an environment of collaboration among bankers and fintechs, which allowed BankPlus to seamlessly maintain its relationships with other technology providers of choice. For instance, Jack Henry's interface with BankPlus' Interactive Teller Machine (ITM) network provider makes for an easy migration and enables expedient responses to customer demands. The bank recently doubled the number of ITMs in its network to accommodate social distancing. The ability for bank tellers to connect on this former self-service channel was well received.

Gee Gee Patridge, senior executive vice president and chief operations officer of BankPlus, added, "We sought references from both our peer banks as well as our vendor network, and both directed us toward Jack Henry as the leading partner to work with. They have a strong reputation for superior customer service."

Stacey Zengel, vice president of Jack Henry & Associates and president of Jack Henry Banking, stated, "We are proud to be able to offer freedom, flexibility, and choice to BankPlus. It is essential for banks to have an open IT infrastructure to fuel their growth and develop unique business strategies. Jack Henry has always had an open approach to banking technology and culture, which makes our partnership with BankPlus a good, strategic fit for both our organizations."
